Dear Mr. Arnoni,

Working my way down through the accumulation on my desk I find this, the second mailing I got from Mr. Morris. If I can find the first, I'll enclose that also.

He writes me familiarly, as though we have met. If this is the case, I do not recall it.

He has not stated what he wants of me, save the book I have sent. Perhaps you can enlighten me. If there is any help I can extend, please let me know.

As of now, it is all a mystery to me.

Sincerely yours,

Harold Weisberg
